

BANK EXAMINER MUST TESTIFY IN $300,000 THEFT

Gondolph, Accused with Fugitive Walker, Has Commissioner Appointed.

Judge Rosinsky, in the Court of General Sessions, today granted a motion for the appointment of a lawyer to go to Suffield, Conn., and take the testimony of George P. Kendal, one of the banking examiners for Connecticut. The motion for the appointment was made by Lawrence Abraham Levy and Louis Lomenstein, representing Charles S. Gondolph, soon to be tried for grand larceny and bringing stolen goods into this State. The action grew out of the case of William F. Walker, who was treasurer of the Savings Bank of New Britain and who disappeared with from $300,000 to $350,000 in bonds owned by the bank.

Gondolph is charged with having been in collusion with Walker in stealing and disposing of eighty-five per cent. bonds of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad Company, par value of each being $1000. In a hearing before Judge Rosinsky, previous to the indictment of Gondolph, one of the witnesses was Charles H. Noble, one of the bank examiners for Connecticut. It is now alleged that Noble gave false testimony when he swore that he had examined personally the bonds that Walker and Gondolph are alleged to have made away with.

In an affidavit submitted to Judge Rosinsky today, Gondolph states that Bank Examiner Kendal has said that Noble admitted to him that he had not examined the bonds, but had merely taken Walker's word for their being among the bank's collateral. The affidavit also sets forth that Kendal refused to come to this State and so testify.

Walker, although the entire globe has been scoured for him, is still a fugitive.

GETS $11,500 FOR HIS EYE, BLOWN OUT BY DYNAMITE.

Blacksmith Sued Contractor, One of Whose Laborers Placed Explosive in Forge.
(Special to The Evening World.)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 15.—For the loss of an eye and the suffering he went through, a jury awarded $11,500 damages to Vincenzo Trotto against the Ballew and Merritt Contracting Company of Tuckahoe, in the Supreme Court at White Plains today. The plaintiff sued for $30,000 damages.
On Nov. 28, 1904, Trotto was in the employ of the company as a blacksmith. One of the laborers went to his forge and placed some frozen dynamite in the fire to thaw, and before the plaintiff had time to protest the dynamite exploded, killing the workman and injuring the plaintiff. His right eye was blown out and he received other injuries.
The company contended that it was not liable as the dead man acted upon his own volition in placing the dynamite in the fire, but the jury thought otherwise.

JOY KILLS MOTHER AT SCHOOL DOOR

Just as Mrs. Fannie Vitale, a middle-aged woman, was entering the courtyard of Public School No. 42, No. 218 East One Hundred and Tenth street, today she dropped, dying. It is believed that excitement brought on hemorrhage.

For two days the woman's son, Angelo, twelve years old, had been relaxing from the Vitale home, No. 122 One Hundred and Ninth street. This morning the mother got word that the student had come back to his usual place at school. Overjoyed, the woman started for the classroom to welcome the prodigal. She fell just inside the entrance to the school grounds. The janitor called Principal Casey, who, in turn, notified Dr. Sobel, a Health Department official, who happened to be in the building on a vaccination tour. Several women teachers helped Dr. Sobel and the principal in their efforts to revive Mrs. Vitale. In the hope of achieving faint signs of recovery, most of whom are foreign-born or the children of foreigners, Prof. Casey had several placed in order until a balance surgeon from Harlem Hospital arrived. By that time the woman was dead.
